

ABOUT THE STATE

HAPPENINGS OF INTEREST FROM DIFFERENT SECTIONS

Burlington's tax rate is to be the same this year as last, $2.

Levi Bashaw died at his home in Brandon on Sunday, the 86th anniversary of his birthday. He leaves five children, 29 grandchildren and 47 great-grandchildren.

Burton, son of Dr. and Mrs. B. A. Holmes of Brandon, was completely buried under a pile of stove wood a few days ago, and was quite badly bruised, but not seriously injured. The wood toppled over.

Rev. George F. Chapin, pastor for 35 years of the Saxtons River Congregational church, recently observed the 82d anniversary of his birth. He has served the Congregational denomination in the state longer than any other minister.

Miss Stella Dunham of Windsor, who was thought to have been fatally injured in an automobile accident, has been pronounced out of danger at the Claremont, N. H., hospital. One arm had to be amputated, as it was torn from the socket in the accident.

Miss Amy L. Perkins, a Rutland girl, who is a student at the School of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, has been awarded one of the first prizes offered by Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer in the department of design. It is for general work done during the year.

While working in the upright moulder in the casket shop in Lunenburg last week, Alby Parker had his left hand badly lacerated, so that all the fingers and thumb had to be amputated, leaving only the palm of the hand. He has a wife and two little daughters.

Elbert S. Brigham, state commissioner of agriculture, has been appointed a member of the standing committee on bovine tuberculosis eradication of the United States livestock association, being the only member appointed from New England. The association has its headquarters in Chicago.

A strike is on at the American Wool company's plant in Winocock, not for wages, but because the night gang refuses to work under the night superintendent, James E. Grainey, jr. About 90 men, the night shift, are involved. Grainey has been night superintendent only two weeks.

The Sharon house at Sharon has been sold by its owner, Chester B. Walbridge, to M. C. Noyes, William Patten, Hiram Snow, F. O. Billings and Dr. E. J. Stone, all of Sharon, who will thoroughly renovate the hotel and then re-open it. At present it is closed, the first time in a century.

Thomas A. Boyle, manager of the Playhouse in Rutland, has brought suit against The Billboard Publishing company of Cincinnati, O., for libel, in the sum of $100,000. It is alleged that the company in their periodical last March printed an article reflecting on the business methods of the plaintiff.

George W. Harlow, whose farm home, "The Traveler's Inn," at the foot of Mt. Mansfield, has been visited by many, died at his home in Stowe, June 17, following a shock. He had lived on the farm where he died for 51 years. Mr. Harlow was a veteran of the Civil war and was wounded in the battle of Petersburg, which caused his discharge.
